

*- Quick, simple,
punctual information
via any channel*

The LINK Send service enables you to very quickly and simply communicate messages to different target groups, with recipients varying from just a few to hundreds of thousands.

LINK Send is ideal in mass-communication applications where punctuality, simplicity and security are important. The recipients choose the information channel they prefer: fax, e-mail or voice or text messaging. The service is accessed via the Internet, fax, phone or web services.

With Send, you channel individually adapted information to thousands of recipients. In contrast to standard mass-communication solutions, Send constitutes a complete service, accessible via the Internet as an outsourcing solution, with everything this entails in the form of freedom from operating your own system, investments and maintenance. You win on simplicity, speed, punctuality and security.
